-  – The Nordic Swan Ecolabel is the official ecolabel of the Nordic countries. It is given to goods and services that meet ambitious environmental, climate and health requirements.

CANDLE SAFETY

-  Never leave a burning candle unattended. Snuff the candle if it zoots or if the flame flicks.
-  Keep a burning candle out of reach for children and pets.
-  Do not place candles in a draught, it makes the candles leak and soot.
-  Always snuff out the flame. Do not blow it out! Blowing out the flame may cause leaking, zooting and tea light explosions.
-  Do not burn candles on or near anything that can catch fire. Always place candles on a heat resistant and non burnable surface.
-  Do not place a candle near or on a source of heat. Doing so may change the burning character, cause dripping and change the shape of the candle.
-  Trim the edges of a pillar candle to a maximum of 1 cm. Edges higher than flame will reduce the access of oxygen which may cause the flame to zoot.
-  Always use a candle holder of a none burning material that is large enough to collect dripping.
-  Always place candles and tea lights in an upright position. This minimises dripping and tea light explosions.
-  Trim the wick to about 1 cm before lighting. A wick longer than 1 cm may result in a too high flame, which makes the candle zoot.

-  Always leave at least 7 cm between each burning candle or tea light. If the candles are to close they can start to drip and/or zoot. Tea lights that are too close can explode.
-  Keep the wax pool clear of any matches and other debris, including leftovers from decorative surface on the candles. Objects in the wax pool may catch fire and explode!
-  Decoratively shaped candles are mainly used for decoration. Burning such candles should include oversized, fireproof candle holder to collect dripping.
-  Never use liquids to extinguish candles. Paraffin floats on liquids, spreads and continues to burn.
-  Never move a burning candle or tea light.
-  Only use tea lights in holders and warming stoves with sufficient ventilation. None sufficient ventilation may heat the paraffin and cause an explosion.
-  Candles burned in heat exceeding 25 degrees, may over burn. Over burning may cause leaking, burn with a larger flame and reduce the burning time. Candles burned in an environment cooler than 20 degrees, may under burn. Under burning may cause excess waste paraffin, a smaller flame and reduce the burning time.
-  Don't let the candle burn all the way down. Snuff the candle when 2 cm is left. Glass containers/candle holders may crack and metal candle holders may transfer heat which can stain furniture and in worst case, start a fire.
