when time matters

Minimalistic wristwatches and wall clocks and assembled by hand in Denmark. The simple design shows time and nothing else – because time matters

Wall clocks

Our collection of wall clocks that have been created based on a proud Danish design tradition that combines form and functionality.

The form is a minimalistic design that appears pure and simple with clean lines. The most important task of a clock is to show what time it is. The seconds hand of the clock has been omitted and this means that the ticking sound has also been removed – instead, time flows soundlessly. It is the now that matters, and we need to spend the time we have on something meaningful.

The colours are inspired by Nordic nature with shades of green, beige, blue and delicate rose colours that creates a sense of calm and works well with any interior design.

Light oak

Ø28 cm / Ø38 cm

A simple wall clock with a minimalistic expression. The round clock face is laser cut from light oak which fits nicely into a modern Nordic home. Every single clock is completely unique, as the veins in the wood are different in each clock. Select a clock in light oak if you want a simple and discrete expression and let the hands of the clock stand out against the light clock face depending on what combination of colours you choose. You can select the basic colour and the colours of the clock hands.
